

I am very concerned about the use of public airwaves for partisan electioneering.

The plan by Sinclair Broadcasting to require its television stations to broadcast a program highly critical of Senator John Kerry, just days before our Presidential election, is an example of corporate abuse of the public trust.

The television station licenses for Sinclair should be revoked.